

Installing Tegrity on a Personal Computer

The Tegrity recorder is installed in most UA classrooms. University of Alabama faculty also have the option of installing the recorder application on their own personal computers to make recordings from home or while away from campus.

Downloading and Installing the Recorder Application

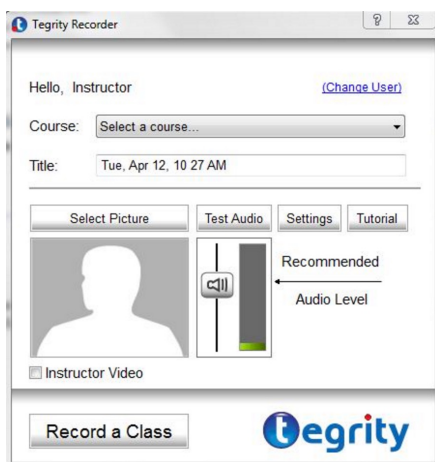

1. Go to any Blackboard course in which you are the instructor. Click on the Tegrity Classes link at the left side of the course.

2. You should be redirected to your course's Tegrity page. Click on the Start a Recording button.

3. If the Tegrity recorder is not already on your computer, you will be asked if you would like to install the application. If you agree, Tegrity will install itself on your computer and the Tegrity recorder should automatically appear. Note: Some browsers may block Tegrity from installing automatically and instead download the installer package to the computer's Downloads folder. Go to your computers Downloads folder and double click on the file that was downloaded.
